

Jennifer Viering attended the University of Cincinnati and lived there for about 29 years. She has lived in Akron, Ohio for the past 10 years. Viering is a mother of three special needs children; and have been involved in some capacity in the mental health field for the past 12 years. She also serves a board member of H.E.L.P (Helping Every Living Person) Homeless Outreach, and works on various community activities; to assist people with special needs and those who are physically/mentally challenged.

She currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Multicultural Advocates for Cultural Competence and its Development and Marketing Committee.